PROFILE

I have worked in hospitality since 2023 and am currently part of the team at Alelí Budapest, a Michelin Guide–recommended restaurant in chef Dani García’s restaurant group. I work with an international clientele and communicate confidently in English. I care about attentive, high-standard service and a well-coordinated team. I assess situations quickly, make decisions independently, and am happy to take on responsibility. On several occasions, my managers have entrusted me with coordination duties beyond my role. I would like to keep growing in a high-standard restaurant with an international clientele, where I can prove myself in increasingly complex responsibilities.
